Micronutrient Lyme Disease Kit

Lyme disease can not be cured!

All we can hope for is to put the Lyme disease into remission for as long as possible. According to medical evidence antibiotics don't seem to be effective enough and a blood titer seems inaccurate in determining acute stages of the Lyme disease, due to many variables such as current meds, anti-inflammatory drugs and duration of imbalance.

According to holistic and homeopathic information, once you or your animal is infected the symptoms can return under stress. Most often during high tick season or on the anniversary of the tick bite even with out re-infection.

This lyme disease kit has been designed to treat the Lyme Imbalance and keep it in remission using the different potencies of remedies.

Homeopathics can not be sold as medicines in the U.S. due to regulations from the FDA. In other countries they are well respected medicines and used for many types of illnesses. They may be sold as micro nutrients in the U.S. I am willing to distribute this kit for anyone interested in using micro nutrients instead of the usual antibiotic treatment. I have successfully treated myself and my horse for lyme disease using Micro nutrient (homeopathic) remedies. We were both infected with Lyme disease in 2004. There is also a preventative remedy available to be used during tick season 1x per week as well as a remedy for tick bites as they occur. The remedies are inexpensive. The Lyme kit cost is $80.00 and would be used once you know you are infected. I am doing this in an effort to help fight Lyme disease and will be happy to talk to you about my personal experiences. This is a legitimate kit from a reputable company.
